

VIRGINIA NEWS

Robert Winfree, a resident of the West End of Petersburg, aged about 50 years, was burned to death in a fire which partially destroyed a house in which he lived Saturday night.

The naval yacht Mayflower, with the President and Mrs. Wilson aboard, left Old Point at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and steamed up Chesapeake Bay for Washington. She arrived at an early hour this morning.

Hope Beain's finger ring is in a jeweler's shop in Winchester because the ruby setting was loosened by lightning. Also he is alive and well after one of the most exciting experiences of his life.

Delegate William M. Meyers, commanding the Richmond Howitzers, stated yesterday in the closing session of the House that the battery, after meeting next Tuesday night, would volunteer for federal service. It was said at the capital that the whole state militia would respond promptly to a federal call.

Bristol Republicans, in a mass meeting Saturday night, unanimously endorsed Representative C. B. Slemm as delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention, and, in turn, voted unanimously not to endorse Alvah Martin, of Norfolk, for a similar honor. The delegates to the District and State conventions go undisturbed.

L. J. Forman, of Petersburg, who served four years as president of the State Senate, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Second West Virginia district. There is talk of Congressman Howard Sutherland, dropping out of the race for United States senator to contest for the congressional nomination in the Second district.

Benjamin F. Morris, Jr., aged two years and nine months, son of Benjamin and Fannie Whitfield Morris, formerly of Fayetteville and Wilmington, N. C., was accidentally drowned in a well at the home of Samuel F. Rowland at Petersburg Saturday afternoon. The child, according to other children who were in the yard at the time, crawled up on the side of the well and fell in before any of them could reach him.

Two colored men walked into the store of Louis Levine, in Norfolk at 1 o'clock yesterday morning when Levine was preparing to close up for the night, and without a word of warning one of them pulled out a revolver and shot the storekeeper. Levine drew his pistol and fired once at the negroes. They ran, taking four more shots at the merchant, who fell with a bullet in his left breast above the heart. The negroes made their escape.

Capt. James Edward Herrick, Clerk of Prince William county and an officer in the Confederate Army, died at Manassas, Saturday. Capt. Herrick succeeded Westwood Hutchison as Treasurer of Prince William county in 1900 and held this office for three terms. In 1912 he was elected clerk of the county, in which capacity he served until a few weeks previous to his death. He is survived by his widow, one son and six daughters. The judge of the Circuit Court, appointed G. G. Tyler, of Haymarket, superintendent of county schools, to the clerkship until the expiration of Capt. Herrick's term.

Lewis Simms, 8 years old, who resided with his mother at Clarendon, Alexandria county, was accidentally shot Saturday while playing with Lewis Mester and Bernard Miller, companions about his age. He died in an automobile while on his way to Georgetown University Hospital. It is stated that the boys were playing in Bernard Miller's house, and that one of them got some cartridges that fitted a rifle Miller produced. One of the boys is reported to have said to his companion, "Pull the trigger," and when he did so the small bullet penetrated the Simms boy's chest in the region of the heart.

SINCLAIR VS. FAIRFAX

Virginia Court of Appeals to Decide Case Long on Docket

The suit of E. L. Sinclair, of Warrenton against M. S. Fairfax and Co. of this city, to recover about $5,000 on the sale of a quantity of whiskey, which has been pending before the courts of this city and state for the past seven years, with verdicts first in favor of one side or the other, is docketed to be heard before the Supreme Court of Appeals in Richmond this week. The plaintiff is represented by Attorneys Richardson and Hogan and Fairfax and Co. by S. G. Brent, of this city.
